College Life

The purpose of the yearbook is to chronicle the events of an entire year. It is impossible to do this perfectly, yet we on the staff hope you will feel our work is, at least, adequate. Many ask why the book is called The LinC. It was explained best by Wahnita Delong in this poem she wrote for the first LinC in 1922:

Lin stands for Lincoln, the avenue wide
On which fronts the campus, the field of our pride.
C means not only the College we praise—
The school we will love throughout all our days—
But Clifford, the father, a true pioneer
Who blazed out the way with a vision clear.
L in C read aright, Life in College appears,
Love in College translate it, if that suits your years.
But though C stands for College and Culture, 'till true,
'Tis the first part of City, Community, too;
And while we LinC up each year to the past,
Forging a chain that will hold us all fast,
We mean to LinC, also, our life here in school
To life in the world—through opposed to all rule—
That we may give freely of our very best
To the City which touches our doors on the west,
And that it in its turn may teach us to know
How to best serve our fellows as through life we go.
Thus of whatever phase of our College we think,
It is all to be found in one word—the LinC.

1979 Basketball Homecoming

February 3, 1979 was the climatic day of UE Winter Weekend boasting a large selection of activities vying for student participants. The big loser was the second annual All-Campus Snow Sculpting Contest: no one showed up despite a nice snowfall the night before. If the campus community was not quite in the mood for morning activity it must have been because it was getting ready for a little "Saturday Night Fever". Roberts Stadium was packed to the hilt with enthusiasm that evening as the Purple Aces crossed swords with Xavier, who the Aces had trounced earlier in the season. Halftime was a show of pagentry featuring the Acettes and a presentation of the Homecoming Court headed by Mark Gillespie of Phi Kappa Tau as Bachelor of the Year. The 1979 Queen was Cindy Clipp of Hughes Hall, crowned by the last Queen, Liz Hyde from 1977. Runners-up were Tim Tyler of Hale Hall and Phi Mu's Julie Coombs. The Aces lost the game to the revenge minded Xaviers. The 74-60 score is not indicative of the tough game the Aces played for their faithful fans.

Students Move Into Campus Life

In September UE greeted a lot of familiar faces and quite a few new ones as students returned, their cars so laden down one wondered if shock absorbers would ever be the same. Box after box of the staples of 20th Century life were dragged up flights of stairs that seemed much higher than in the Spring: Radios, curling irons, hot plates, hot dog cookers, popcorn poppers, electric toothbrushes, televisions, stereos, tennis racquets, calculators, Monopoly, bicycles, baseball bats, frisbees, cards, the sacred Playboy collection, plants, old easychairs, carpets, albums and tapes ranging from Kiss to John Denver, the global power game Risk, and multiple other expensive, indispensable items. Mary Bergdolt (right) enjoys it in spite of the load.

Party Fever

Animal House was just the beginning. Fun for the individual, the moving force of the Seventies, has brought its wildness to just about everybody, showing us the "ME" decade will still be here in the Eighties. Sorority Pledging

The gods of Mount Olympus smiled upon the Greek sororities of the University of Evansville. This fall they were again pledging young women into the Greek way of living. The uncommitted women of the campus attended parties and get acquainted meetings to help decide if they should pledge and if so, which sorority was the best suited to their needs. Formal Pledging

All hail Dionysus! After a lively season of rush parties the hour of decision arrived. To pledge or not to pledge, that was the question. Whether tis nobler to embark on the course of fraternal living or to remain a member of the brotherhood of independence. Once again UE men made their decisions, and those who pledged awaited the night when they would know if they were accepted. The frats made their selections and the rest is UE history.

Soccer

The soccer Aces set several new records in their second season in Division I play. Among the new records was the longest winning streak of 11 games, most goals scored (53), most shutouts (4), and least goals allowed (22). In addition a new record for most wins catapulted the Aces to a 13-6 season. Coach Bob Gaudin said that the Aces must have been the best 13-6 team in the country. The coach seems to have been proven right as the Aces moved to tie for the 20th spot in the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America poll.

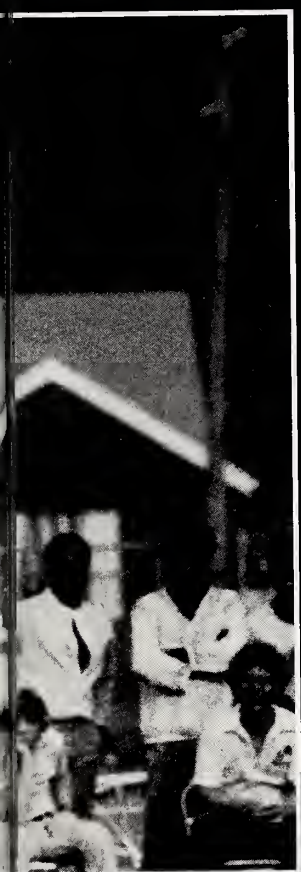

Leading the Aces attack was Papa Jobe who was leading scorer and assists; he made the second team in the All-Midwest squad, was selected for the Senior Soccer Bowl, and a candidate for All-American. The rest of the squad proved themselves as well on the field and they were looking forward as an improved team to do battle with some top-notch teams.

Among the highlights was the home game against number one ranked IU at Bosse Field that brought around 5000 Evansville fans, a new attendance record, proving the increasing popularity of soccer in Evansville. IU won by a score of 1-0 though UE held the line and several times came close to scoring. The highlights did not end with the regular season play because Papa Jobe went to the Senior Bowl and was named "Most Valuable Player" for scoring 2 goals in under two minutes to give his team a 4-3 victory.

UE Ends Season 20th in the Nation

Football

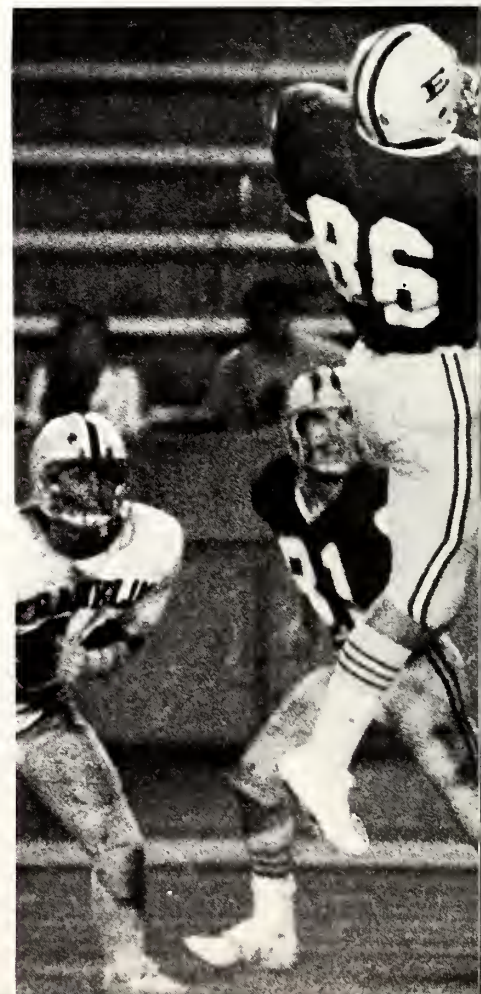

The Aces came off the season roster with a 3-7 mark this year. Coach John Moses was reported to have stated he intended to turn that mark around next year with seven wins. The Aces will return next year with twenty veteran seniors including the Scott combo of Charley Scott and Scott Topczewski. Scott led the team with 28 receptions for 306 yards. Also returning are Courtney Watt, Chris Loser, Greg Holland, & Ray Littleton, all middle line backers. However, the loses will be felt as well; Rory Hennings with the longest reception of 72 yards and most TD passes (2); Jacques Williams, the longest running back with 5TDs in a single game and who made a second team All-Conference; Esley McClung at defensive end; Linebackers Scott Barnhill and defensive middle guard Tom Halford. Though the loses are going to be felt, Moses will have a basically veteran team that will be looking for revenge like mysterious field goals at the Homecoming game. The team has been rebuilding for the past few years and now it's time to move on to bigger and better things.

The UE marching Aces struck up a lively song and marched their way into another smash season of halftime entertainment. There were long hours of hard rehearsal behind each of the impressive performances as drum major Art Adye (right) can attest to. The time and patience needed for such a large group to become a single, interacting unit is hard for one not acquainted with band operations to fathom. Yet, they found the time to perform in the West Side Nut Club Parade. UE has something to be proud of.

What's more fun than a lawn party? Hale's turkey run for which students gathered in November, as they have for over a decade. The turkeys were as dumb as they ever were as each was caught, so to speak. Below right: Hall Pres. Warren Dressler (left) presented Justin Clements and Pete Reh fuss trophies to go with their turkeys.

Engineering Annex Dedicated

UE dedicated the new wing of the Engineering Sciences Building on October 21, 1978. President Dr. Graves presided over the homecoming weekend ceremony in which many notables, including Evansville Mayor Russell Lloyd, delivered "words of Appreciation" to the university for its continuing contributions to the community. The wing is part of the universities Phase II growth objectives for the years 1977-1981. The wing houses classrooms, lecture halls, faculty offices and laboratories.

A LITTLE NIGHT MUSIC

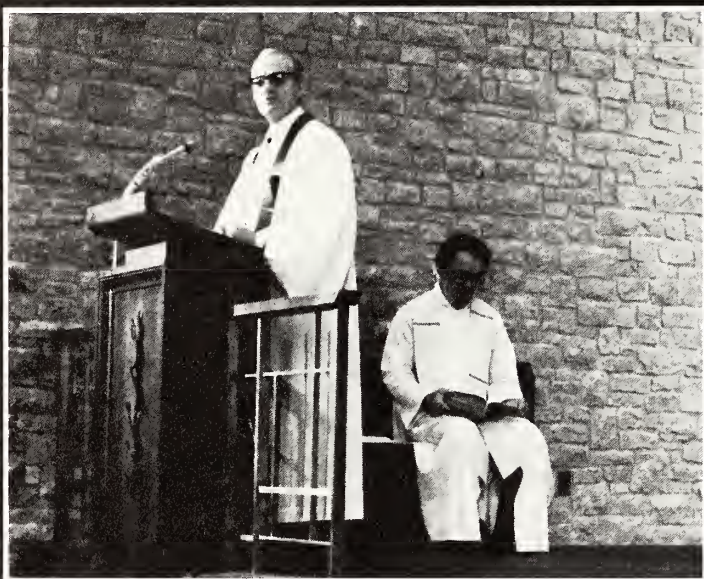

Words and Lyrics by STEPHEN SONDHEIM

The turn of the century was an era of great change. Queen Victoria had died and her world was dying too. The United States was an economic rival of Europe and was exerting an increasing amount of influence in world affairs. Russia lost a war to Japan becoming the first European nation to lose a war to a non-European enemy. The automobile was coming into use and Wright brothers had given man flight. Einstein, Freud and Jung were formulating postulates that would change the course of human thought, and the actress Mrs. Patrick Campbell lit a cigarette in the Plaza Hotel. The last remnants of real aristocracy were on the verge of being swept away forever as the mass disillusionment of WWI clouded the horizon. Yet many were not paying notice to the signs; The good people continued their lives as they always had with no thought for the future. This musical deals with such people. Fredrik is a prosperous lawyer somewhat baffled and buffeted by middle age. Widowed, he takes as his bride Anne, an eighteen year old flower who is not quite ready, after eleven months of marriage, to be deflowered. The maid Petra, believing that sex is an act rather than a word, toys with the affections of Fredrick's son Henrik who suffers from post-adolescent puritanical guilt and an unholy crush on his new stepmother. In frustration Fredrik looks up his ex-mistress, a popular actress named Desiree Armfeldt. Unfortunately, they run into her current love, Carl Magnus, a vain, conceited soldier who feels his wife Charlotte and his mistress should be equal paragons of fidelity. Then the entire entourage is invited for a weekend at the country estate of Desiree's mother, Madame Armfeldt, an armorous relic of the King of the Belgians. Fredrik meets Fredrika, his love child by Desiree, although he does not know who she is. There are three great moments in the play: when the maid Malla sings that she must accept life without happiness; when Desiree and Fredrik realize they have wasted too many precious years as she sings "Send in the Clowns"; and when Madame Armfeldt, symbol of the passing age, dies as the sunsets.

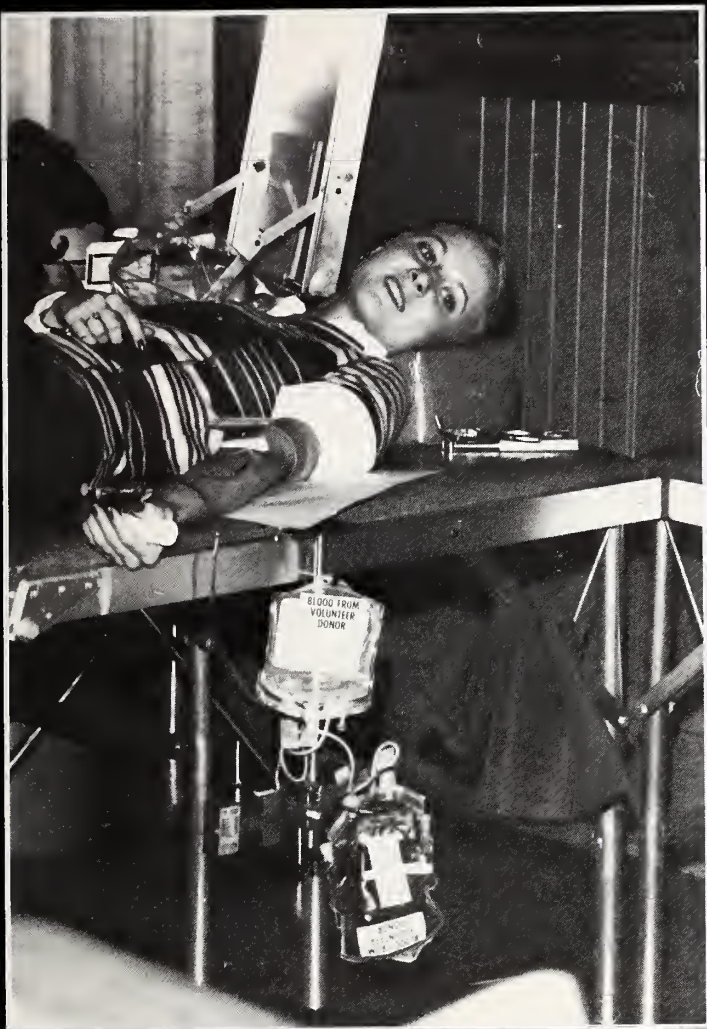

Memorial

"To everything there is a season . . . a time to mourn . . ." And so we gathered to remember those who died at Dress Regional Airport last December 13th. Our basketball team has always been a great part of us, and losing them left a void in our lives. We all were changed by that shocking sting of reality. Now ours has been filled, in one way or another, but we won't forget what they meant to us.

Blood Drive

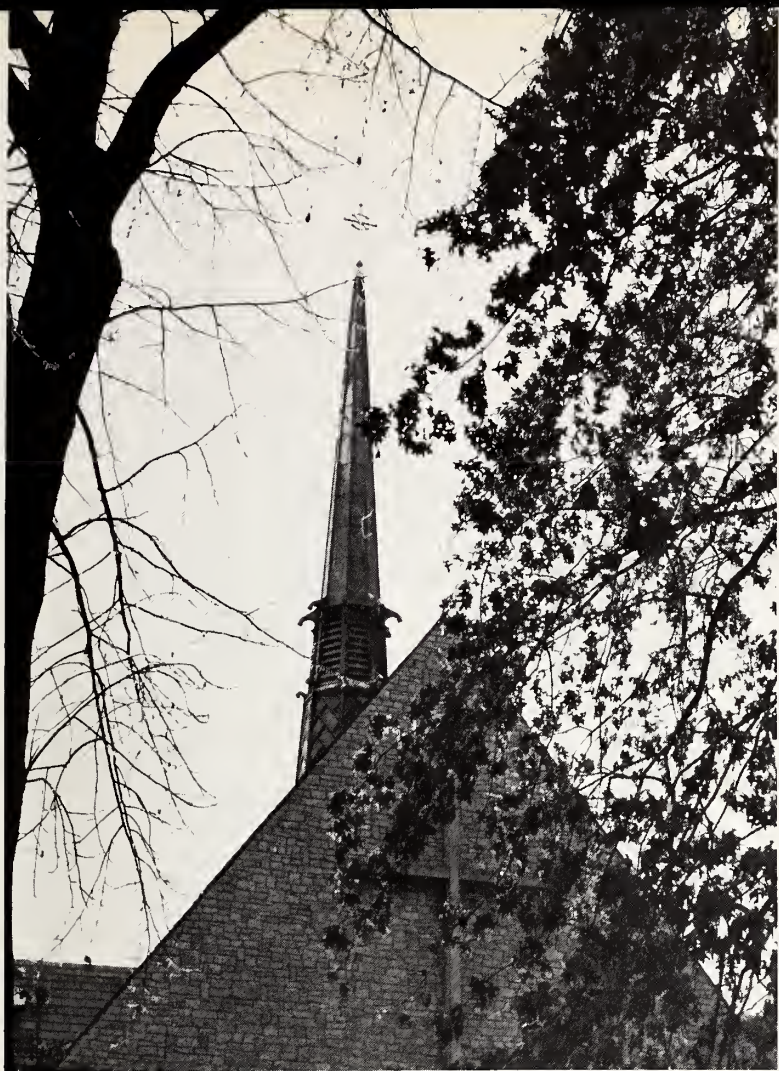

Giving. Nothing is as fulfilling and wonderful as one person giving of himself for another. The Student Association asked the students for blood in December in cooperation with the Red Cross. SA President Henry Davis announced that 278 pints of blood were collected in the two day drive: 37 above last year's total. Quite a few faculty and staff members joined to give this gift of life. Teresa Land, at left, gave and so did Ace Purple (below).

Wrestling

The Evansville grapplers closed their season at a 4-4 mark in the Heartland Conference. Coach Parker felt his team finished where he expected them to in the conference. The guys finished third in the Heartland Conference Championship and then went on to finish thirteenth out of fourteen in the NCAA Midwest regionals. Senior Dave Contreras (142 pounds) was runner-up in the Heartland Championship and the only team member to overcome a first round loss and go on the place fourth in his class in the Midwest Regionals.

U-Sing a Big Success

Sigma Alpha Iota sponsored this year's production of the University Sing, one of the campus' more popular traditional activities. Groups from all over campus gather to demonstrate the refined musical skills of their members that might not otherwise be exposed to public scrutiny. The winner of the event this year was a charming group of Phi Kappa Tau's best crooners. The PKT performance is immortalized below during their tribute to the froliccing 1920s. Others performing in the competition included Cindy Weightman who is shown at the left and a happy bunch of singers hailing from Hughes Hall (bottom).

Pops Concert

PMA-SAI held their tenth annual Pops Concert in Shanklin Theatre on December 8, 9 and 10 of 1978. The two music organizations put on the show which bathed the UE community with tones and notes of ecstasy. All proceeds from this yearly event are donated to the Romaine Benedict—Wesley Shepard Scholarship Funds.

JUMPERS

by

Tom Stoppard

Jumpers is a high-spirited comedy, a murder mystery of no great mystery, and a serious debate on morality, certainty, and God in which British playwright Tom Stoppard gives us a ride on a philosophical roller-coaster. The play opens with a political rally for the victorious Radical Liberals who don't believe in God and campaigned on the philosophy every man should do as he pleases. Their leader is Sir Archibald Jumper, dean of a British university. As the evening progresses: once famous pop singer Dorothy Moore failed an attempted comeback; a secretary swings from a chandelier; and the Jumpers appear. They are the more philosophical members of the British university's gymnastics team and the more gymnastic members of the university's philosophy department. An engine failure on a two-man British spacecraft causes a lunar brawl (televised no less) after which the captain leaves his fellow astronaut to die alone on the moon. Back on earth one of the Jumpers is murdered, and the body is hung on the back of Dotty's bedroom door through which Archie soon enters to continue their affair. Then Inspector Bones from Scotland Yard arrives to investigate. In the midst of all this is the absent-minded George Moore, Dotty's husband, a professor of moral philosophy who spends most of his time preparing for a lecture on the moral absolutes of beauty, goodness, and God, none of which the Radical Liberals believe in. In the climatic sequence at Westminster Abbey Clegthorpe, the new Archbishop of Canterbury, is murdered for deciding to believe in God, and all the plays elements come together in an explosion of irresolute revelation. Dr. Dudly Thomas directed the play with special Assistance from gymnastics coach Dan Manton.

Clockwise from Right: Dotty Moore with the murdered Jumper; Dotty more comfortable; the Jumpers; George Moore contemplates God; Sir Archie, Crouch, and Archbishop Clegthorpe; Inspector Bones.

Residence Hall Council Holds Winter Weekend Formal Evening “Winter Whispers”

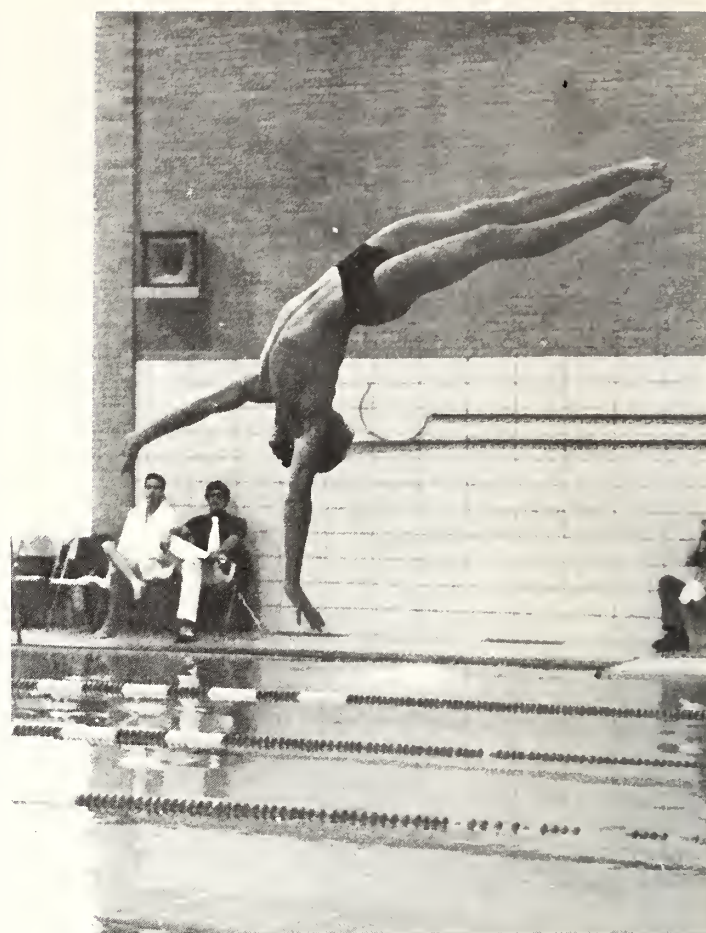

One of the events highlighting the Winter Weekend each year is the Residence Hall Council Formal, the Winter Whispers Dinner-Dance. This year's festivities were on Friday February 2, 1979 and began at the Florida Room of the Executive Inn. Approximately four hundred people attended the dinner there. Following roast beef and chicken plus a few drinks of dubious origin, the crowd wiped out over the raucy good humor of the comedy duo of Edmonds and Curly. The party then moved across the street to the Gold Room of Vanderburgh Auditorium for dancing to the music of Malanchi. Some of the happy participants include, Clockwise from right: getting down; a moment of solace on the balcony; Kevin Myers and Beth Freudenburg; Karen Hoevener and Paula Hammonds at the refreshment table.

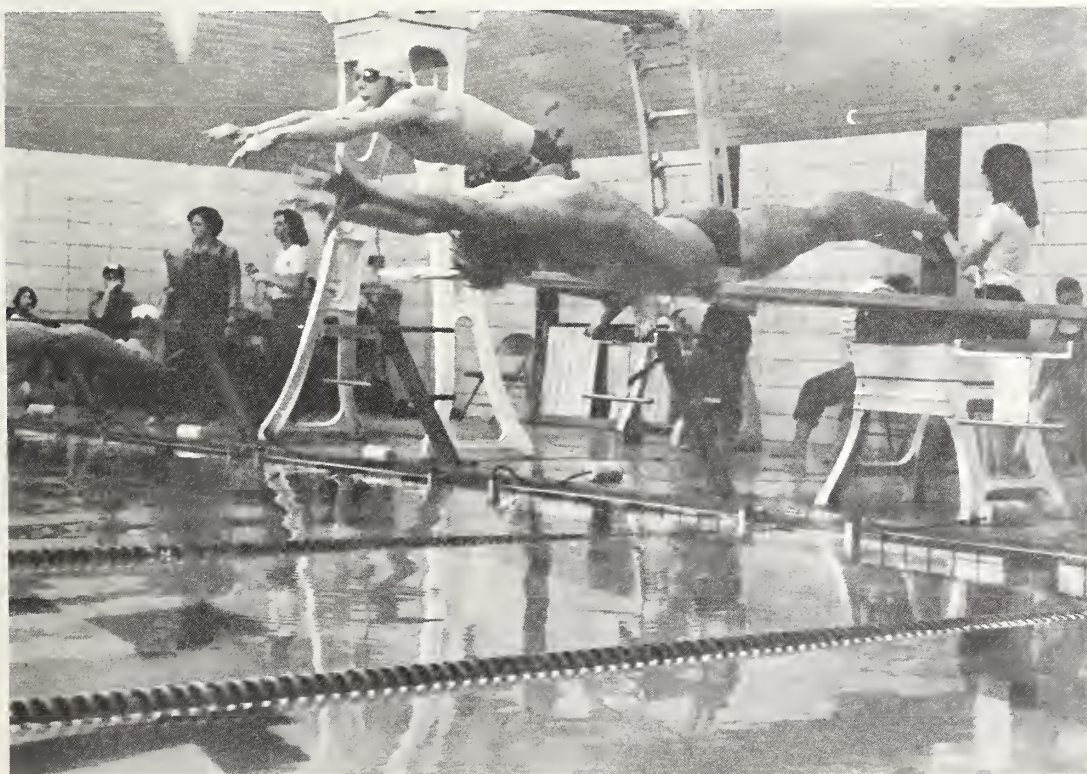

Men's Swimming

Coach Jim Stahl's Aqua Aces coasted to an 8-3 season posting. Coach Stahl was named Conference coach of the year for the Heartland Conference. The Aqua Aces took the Heartland Conference crown with an impressive showing. The Aces chalked up several varsity and conference records this year. The Aqua men are tops now and only one is a graduating senior, all of the nucleus to power the "Aqua Lung" is in 13 Freshmen and 8 Sophomores, all returning next year. The summation of the season can be pinned to the Heartland Conference Meet where 61 all-time best of 69 possible performances were stroked out by the Aces.

Women's Swimming

Bev Winstead's Lady Aces took a 3-7 dual meet season at the close. The girls were only in the second year of AIAW level competition and were just filling their lungs to get used to the water. However, six girls made it to the regionals where they placed fifteenth out of twenty-two teams. Coach Winstead is looking for divers for next year as this was the major weak spot in the team. One outstanding freshman that set eight individual records, was member to four relay teams to set marks, and qualified for eight regional events was Mona Seaman.

Basketball

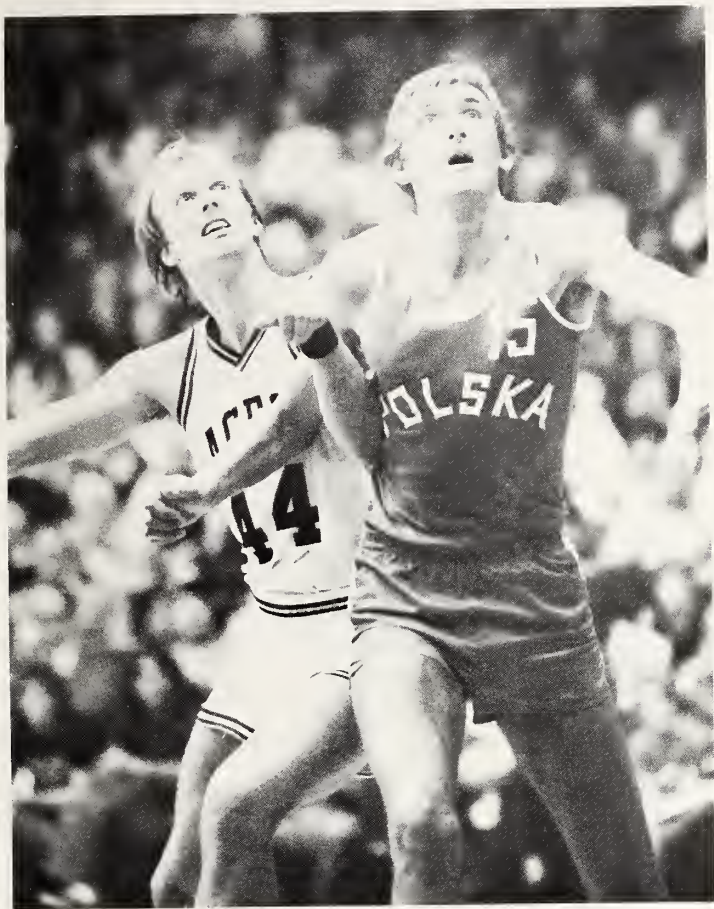

The UE Purple Aces completed their basketball season at a 13-16 mark, which is very impressive considering it was a building year. The year has been tiring on Coach Walters who is already on the recruiting road. Walters doesn't lose any players to the diploma disease and will have an experienced, more relaxed team next year.

A short word of praise should be given to the Evansville merchants, the 100,000 fans, and the rest of the community that supported the Purple Aces in this first full season of Division I play. We hope they will continue to do so in the years to come.

Though Walters was enticed by bigger schools, he feels comfortable and happy here in little ole Evansville. The bright, young coach has proved his prowess to be able to take several good athletes, throw them together overnight and come up with 13 wins in one year.

Among the year's highlights was the four point difference and close game against the Indiana State Sycamores (the ones that came to be an overnight legend and almost clenched the NCAA title). Also Marquette's Coach Al McGuire was guest speaker at the first annual basketball spring banquet this year. Finally but not least all of the players should be recognized for outstanding achievement at one point or nother throughout the season. A final note should go something like this: "Let's mop a _ _ next year."

Purple Pride

Enthusiasm for basketball just does not seem to ever run dry at UE. In recognition of this fact the Purple Pride Gang was launched in an effort to funnel the enthusiasm into useful and productive channels. Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers and Pepsi both agreed to back the organization; the most successful membership drive in UE history was underway. More than twelve hundred students joined the booster club as it began a series of pep assemblies which featured Wendy's Chili (also served free after after each homegame win). Between "Aces" visors and "Purple Pride Fever" T-shirts the pride just can't be stopped.

125th Anniversary

February 12, 1979 was the day UE celebrated its 125th anniversary with a convocation at the Vanderburgh Auditorium. The University was founded February 10, 1854 by John C. Moore as Moores Hill Male and Female Collegiate Institute in Dearborn County. The school developed financial problems early in this century which became insurmountable when one of the main buildings burned in 1915. Evansville was chosen as a relocation site because of community support and the fact that it was the only major city in the state without a four year college within a fifty mile radius. Evansville College was incorporated on February 17, 1919. The College has enjoyed continuous growth since then, becoming the University of Evansville on February 17, 1967, containing four colleges and five schools and the Harlaxton campus in England. The speaker at the Founders Day convocation was Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, President of the University of Notre Dame. His speech was entitled "The Challenge of Service" and dealt with four areas important to Christian education: teaching students to be compassionate, solving the world food shortage, the importance of commitment to the world, and service to the Lord. Following his speech Hesburgh received an honorary Doctorate of Law degree from UE's President Dr. Wallace B. Graves. The audience of over 300 was composed mostly of UE faculty and Evansville citizens. Few students attended though classes were canceled, choosing to spend the time otherwise.

THE WOULD-BE GENTLEMAN by Moliere

Jean-Baptiste Poquelin, better known as Moliere, was the leader of the "La Troupe du Roi" during the reign of the Sun King Louis XIV of France enjoying the King's special patronage. During the fall of 1669 the King received a Turkish envoy named Suleiman Agha at the lavish new palace at Versailles. Louis, enthroned in splendor, wore a suit embroidered with fourteen million livres' worth of diamonds, roughly $333,333 today. But Suleiman was angry because he had been kept waiting a long time and his expression seemed to say all Turks were fourteen million livres' worth of diamonds. Louis felt highly insulted and encouraged his courtiers to ridicule the Turks for the next year. It was during this period that Louis commanded Moliere and his composer friend Jean-Baptiste Lully to compose a comedy portraying Turks in a rather poor light. The result of their labors was the ever-well-received "The Would-Be Gentleman" which revolves around the aspirations of a French bourgeoisie to become a gentlemen. Smattered with singing, dancing, laughing, and romancing it was directed this Spring by UET's guest artist Lynn Thomson. The aspiring middle-class Frenchman is the pompous Monsieur Jourdain. In his vain attempts to reach the upper-classes Jourdain hires instructors in music, dancing, fencing, and philosophy to master the art of refinement. He lets himself be used as a bank account by the footloose Count Dorante, who lives far beyond his means, in the hopes of being introduced to the beautiful Countess Dormiene. Madame Jourdain, her daughter Lucile, and the outspoken maid Nicole dislike Jourdain's silly vanity and frivolous spending and tell him so. They also dislike his disapproval of Lucile's suitor Cleonte who is not a "gentlemen" either. Through a clever scheme of Turkish disguises Cleonte's servant Covielle tricks Jourdain into giving Lucile to Cleonte while winning Nicole for himself as a troop of "Turks" turn the house into a festive riot. Beth North was choreographer and UE math teacher Clark Kimberling composed the music.

AOP Basketball Marathon 1979

The sisters of Alpha Omicron Pi sponsored their annual Basketball Marathon on St. Patrick's Day this year, Saturday March 17, 1979. With 45 teams participating the sorority raised between $400-$500 for the National Arthritis Association. The money came from a $5 entry fee, a bake sale, and raffle tickets for prizes donated by local businessmen. The competition had three divisions: College Men, College Women, and Business Men-Faculty. Each team had two or three 15 minute games without time-outs. The UE Intramural program provided the referees. The chairmen of the Marathon were Sue Lagrange and Lynn Foshee.

SAE Dance-a-thon

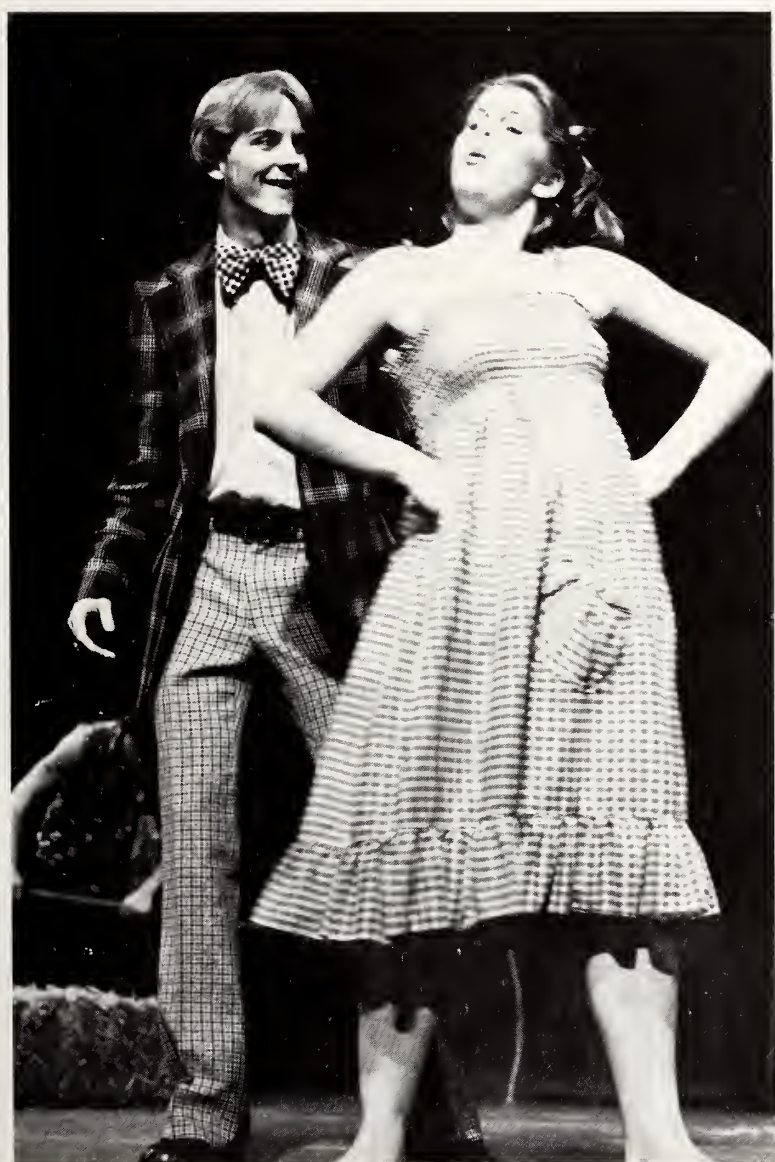

On April 21, 1979 Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity sponsored a 30-hour dance-a-thon at Washington Square Mall. The annual event benefits Muscular Dystrophy research. The participating couples, allowed only ten-minute rest breaks, raised approximately $2,500. The winning pair was Jenny Paxson, an ISUE student and Mark Wells. Second place partners were Phi Mu Anne Wilkenson and John Hyde.

Musical Madness

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity and the Phi Mu sorority won the 1979 Union Board Musical Madness which was held Saturday and Sunday, April 7 and 8 in Shanklin Theatre. Directed by junior Karen Chaney, the show's theme this year was "When the Sun Goes Down." The Phi Mu-Phi Tau program followed the subtheme "My Old Kentucky Home" and was co-directed by Kent Parr and Susan Payne, winners of the Best Directors award. Hughes Hall won second place for "When the Stars Come Out." Directed by Jay Knopfmeier and Debbie Trnka, they won the Best Enthusiasm and Vitality award. Chi Omega and Sigma Phi Epsilon won third with "It's a Grave Situation." Their directors were Nancy Covington, Scott Gronote, and Linda Schmidt. Each group had ten minutes to present their mini-musical judged on music, drama, and originality. Each year the proceeds are donated to charity. This year's charity was Special Olympics.

Baseball

Coach Gary Crum faced the toughest schedule ever at UE this year. The team proved their worth as a good solid defensive club and did some fantastic work despite adverse conditions such as unplayable weather for 19 or more days, team bus in repair more than on the road, and even private buses breaking down on road trips. All things weighed, the Aces came off with an amazing season.

Some of the notable players included batter Steve Maier, pitchers Scott Doerner and Jim Nalley, Kyle Traylor (a batter also) and Don Lilly as an excellent double play combo, Lonnie Burklow at center notch, and Robert Jones, Lynn Riggs, and Co. at catching.

HARLAXTON

UE's British campus is now truly UE's British campus. Harlaxton Manor, located in Lincolnshire just outside of Grantham, England, was given to the University by an alumnus. Dr. William L. Ridgeway of San Francisco, a member of the UE Board of Trustees, purchased the Manor from the Trustees of the Society of Jesus (Jesuits). With the Manor comes 100 acres of surrounding grounds. President Graves said the University was "enormously grateful" while remarking that Harlaxton would continue to benefit students on into the future.

Hundreds have enjoyed the experience of studying abroad at Harlaxton. The opportunity to live there for up to a year is the chance of a lifetime. The three day weekends allow for extensive traveling in England and Scotland and many find time to explore the Continent. It is a chance to find the roots of America and oneself. It has been said by cosmopolitans that Americans are only transplanted Europeans; it is fascinating to see firsthand the cities, universities and battlefields where events affected the development of the "unique" American character and to see how similar the "unique" is to its European progenitors.

SHARON ROLF

America's Finest College Actress

Evansville area theatergoers have felt the University of Evansville Theatre's Sharon Rolf was a very good actress for several years. She has delighted them in such plays as "Godspell," "Company," "Romeo and Juliet," "Brigadoon," "Sherlock Holmes," "The Man of La Mancha," and "The Cherry Orchard." This season began as its predecessors, with a powerful and moving work: this time "A Little Night Music" (see pages 38 and 39) with Sharon Rolf playing the lead role as Desiree Armfeldt. The audiences were enchanted with her rendition of "Send in the Clowns." Thus the course of events led her to perform the song and a comedy scene in the divisional level competition of the American College Theatre Festival at Ohio's Bowling Green State University. She won. The fourth UET student to win at that level in six years, Sharon received a $500 scholarship and advanced into the national competition for the coveted Irene Ryan Award. In late April the stage was set at Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. She was later quoted as saying, "I was really calm while performing. I was very satisfied with the performance." Richard Barletta, Rolf's partner, said, "Honestly, we didn't care who won the Irene Ryan at the time because we felt so good about the scene." But Sharon had won. The pride of Evansville had become the best in the nation. Sharon contributed the major part of her success to UE Drama Department's John David Lutz: "John David Lutz deserves at least 50 percent of that award. Everything that I was complimented on was something he gave me to do." Mark Hatfield of the Music Department was also praised for his handling of musical problems. Sharon received $2000 from the American Theatre Festival and what she calls an opportunity card in the "game of life." The future is bright for Sharon Rolf. Previous winners have been offered scholarships. Becky Guy, a UE alumnus who won the award several years ago, was offered an education at the Juiard School for Actors. This achievement is not only good for Sharon, but it helps firmly establish the University of Evansville as a top notch drama school.

Hitman

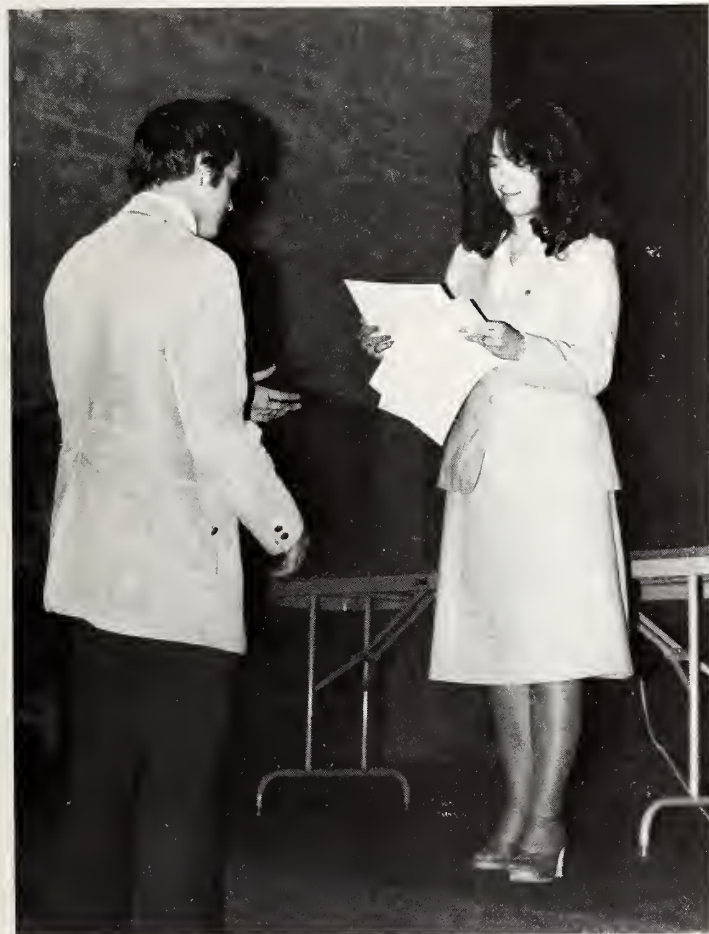

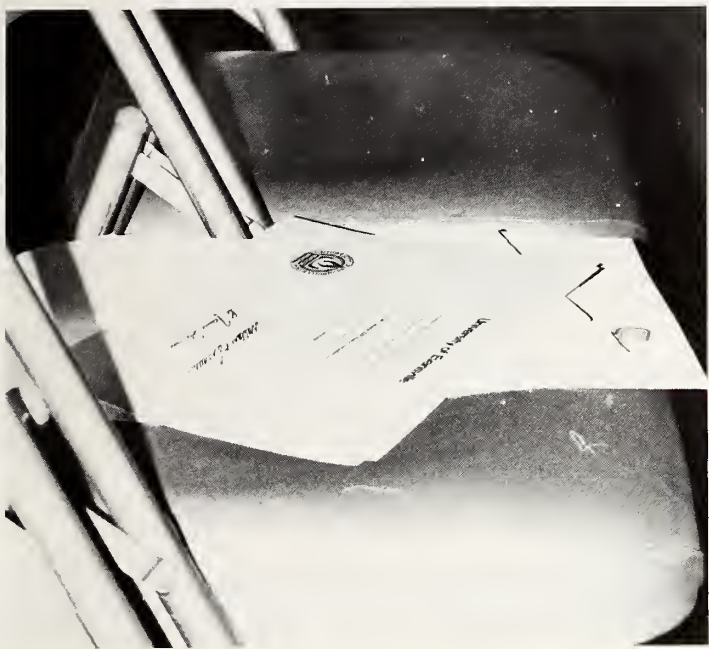

Spring Week got under way this year with the help of Neuman Center's Hitman. For a small fee any teacher or administrator will be shot—with water. The event made quite a splash.

Honors Night

The University honored its own at the annual Honors Night program April 23, 1979 in Wheeler Concert Center. Over 100 scholarships and certificates are given each year.

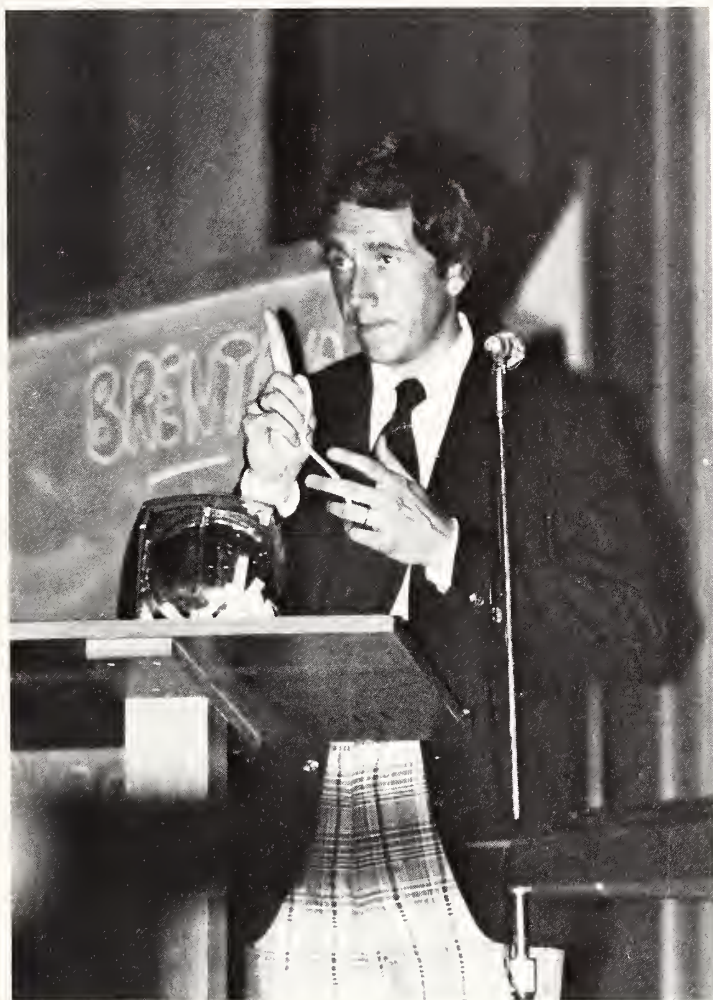

Trivia Quiz

The Seventh Annual Alpha Lambda Delta Trivia Quiz was held on Wednesday April 25, 1979 as one of Spring Week's most popular events. A major upset occurred when Phi Kappa Tau, the champ for five years, finished third. First place was taken by Mortar Board's Lynn Foshee and Gabe Reising, second by Roland Phillips and Mark Kopinski of WUEV. Phi Taus were defended by last year's champion team of Kent Parr and Bob Mackey (contestants named as shown at right).

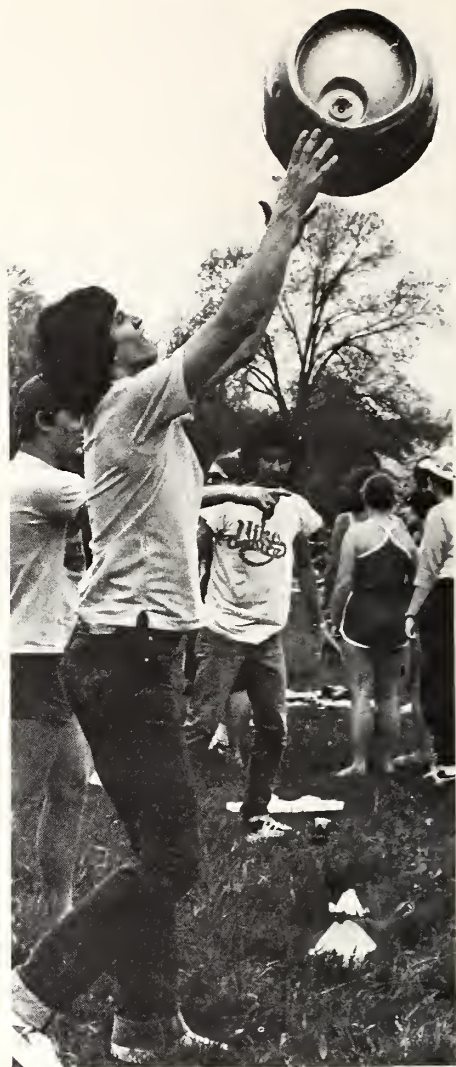

Spring Day

Lincoln State Park and Spring Day were made for each other. April 27th saw an explosion of activity there, everything from baseball to tromping through the woods. Following a meal catered by Harpers which proved that everything tastes better outdoors Playfair made its UE debut. Who would have thought running under parachutes could be fun? With the help of strange liquids of dubious origins the day was rolling fine when the rain struck. The day was cut short but still left memories for everyone including Dave Miller and Pat Bales (at right).

Big 39 Bike Race

April 28, 1979 was cloudy, windy, and cold—45 degrees in fact. But the day will shine in the memory of Sigma Phi Epsilon because it brought them first and second places in the Big 39 Bike Race for the third consecutive year. Sig Ep I won with a four lap lead in 119 minutes 25 seconds. Their coach, Brian Lentz, had admitted “it wasn’t going to be easy” and it wasn’t. There was fierce competition from the TKEs and Sig Ep II, the second place winner. TKE I was third. Chris Stofleth, Jeff Ulrich, Matt Bielfeld, and Mike Slider were the Sig Ep I team. Stofleth, Bielfeld, and Slider were selected for the all-star team with TKE’s Gary Ruble.

Shanklin Theatre's fourth and final presentation of the year was Arthur Miller's contemporary classic The Crucible. The large crowds which saw the play found what appeared to be a drama of the witch trials and hangings of Puritanical Salem in 1692, but there is more to this play. Parallels are drawn between that time's perversions of justice and those of Senator Joe McCarthy and his House Un-American Activities Committee. The hypocrisy and hatred that encompassed Salem village are a true mirror of the shabby witch hunt of McCarthy in 1953 when this work was first presented. The Crucible depicts a society that has lost control of itself in a whirlwind of lies and silly accusations which turn even the good and pious against one another. They become the victims of public fear. John and Elizabeth Proctor are two such people who experience the full course of "justice": suspicion, arrest, mock trial, and a final chance for John to save his life by confessing to a lie. John refuses to compromise his word and dies on the gallows. John and Elizabeth had been accused by Abigail Williams, his former lover who was still jealous. Aided by her friend Mary Warren, Abigail meddled in witchcraft beneath the Rev. Samuel Parris' nose. The Rev. John Hale, an expert on witchcraft, is sent for as things get out of hand. Eventually Deputy-Governor Danforth arrived to hold trials and convict the citizens, in the true spirit of McCarthy. The greatest horrors of both witch hunts were the acceptance of an accusation as proof of guilt and bias against any one who defended the accused. This play has a powerful message calling all people to resist tyranny and blind injustice.

Tennis

Tennis had a great season under a new coach, Paul Jensen. One reason is freshman Dean Hall. At this spring's Heartland Conference Championships he won the No. 1 singles title and Most Valuable Player honors. In the final he defeated Jeff West of Indiana Central 6-2, 4-6, 6-0. He is the first UE conference singles champion since Tim Unverzagt in 1969. Freshman Chris Wolfe also shined at the conference. Chris placed fourth in the No. 6 singles.

Graduation

Threatening skies moved UE's 121st Commencement to Roberts Stadium where 930 graduates received their degrees from President Wallace Graves. The speaker was Ralph E. Bailey, a Lynnville native who recently became chairman and chief executive of the Continental Oil Company, the nation's eighteenth largest industrial corporation. Bailey addressed himself to America's energy problem. Saying the nation's future was bright if we learn a "risk-free society" is not possible, he warned of the need for a "reasonable balance" between environmental concerns and economic needs. Nancy Croker of Indianapolis, a nursing student, won the Mable Dillingham Award for the outstanding female senior. The Guthrie May Award for outstanding male senior was presented to pre-law student Steven Hipfel of Cincinnati.

Angel Flight is an organization of dedicated women who have the best interest of the United States Air Force Officer's Training Program and the Arnold Air Society at heart, existing to aid the US Air Force by promoting the interest of college men in the AFROTC Program. Angel Flight was founded at UE with twenty members in 1957 as the Donald F. Wright Flight and had fifty members at his height. The Flight acted as Area Headquarters in 1961, 1973, and 1975. In 1976 Evansville hosted a Tri-Area Conclave and bid at National Conclave for the National Headquarters for the following year: a position held for two years.

The Angels have always worked with Arnolds on various service projects: collecting canned goods for Thanksgiving Baskets, Corps picnics, leading campus tours, Providing guards for the annual Science Fair, helping with University registrations, Telethons, and Alumni mailings to name just a few. The annual USO Show was Flight's major campus social activity. Angels worked closely with the corps, the Boys Club, and Hillcrest Orphanage in planning Halloween, Christmas, and Easter parties. For the past two years they participated in the EARC candy drive and The Channel 9 TV Auction. Each year the Flight participated in UNICEF collections, the American Cancer Drive or the Heart Fund. A major Angel-Arnold project was to periodically wash down airplanes at Dress Regional.

Angel Flight raised funds by operating a concession stand at the Big and Little 39 Bike Races and selling stocking stuffers, small gifts and useful household items. In 1976 Angel Flight raised money for St. Jude's Hospital and Cincinnati's Burn Center by organizing a Runathon and seeking donations from businesses throughout the Tri-State. The Angel Flight Drill Team participated in the Fall Festival Parade, the WROZ Christmas Parade, the Armed Forces Parade, and halftimes at the UE Basketball games. In 1973 Angel Flight began its own Colorguard to assist the Corps and participated in home football and basketball games.

Angel Flight brought the University many awards and honors including: the Purdue Cup for the chapter best fulfilling the Angel Flight mission, the Samuel E. Anderson Award for best furtherance of Arnold Air objectives, the Outstanding angel Flight Commander on the Area and National levels, the Thomas A. Morrison Leadership Award for the area Angel and Arnold displaying the best leadership ability, and the John P. Robbins Silver Wings Award for the Angel best fulfilling the Angel Flight image. The Donald L. Wright Flight received the Outstanding Advisor Award for several years and the National Merit Award for outstanding individual contribution to advance Angel Flight on the Area and National levels. In 1973 the Flight became the proud owners of an official Angel Flight flag. Donated by the Evansville Kiwanis Club, it is the only one in existence.

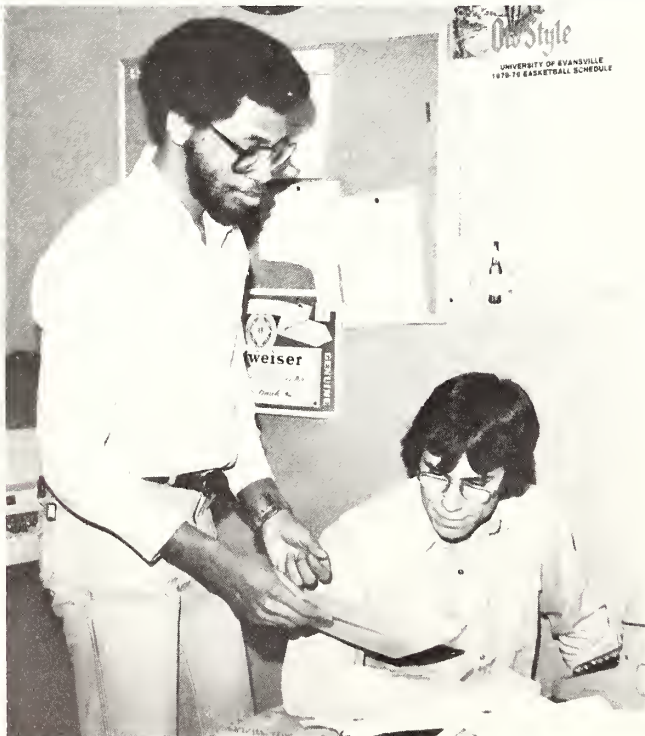

Angel Flight will close on May 20, 1979. We, the members of Angel Flight, have appreciated and considered it an honor to serve our campus and country. We will truly miss our organization but the memories will live on forever. We want to extend our thanks to the University and our advisors for their support and the leadership qualities they have instilled in us.

Kevin Myers, Editor

This book is not perfect. I am the first to admit there are faults. Some are mine, but many are the result of chance, unavoidable circumstances. Be assured, under the same circumstances the 1979 LinC could be no better.

I think I had an exceptional staff and want to take time to thank them. David, you helped me more than you can ever know. You took a lot of pressure off me and your writing skills are a plus to the book. Mel, you're the best, and I am grateful for everything you were able to do. Shellie, just when I needed a Layout Editor you were there; you gave it all you had. Dedication and perseverance are the key to this job and you have them. Patti, you're a great asset. You can do layouts as well as take pictures; having you on the staff has been an indescribable pleasure. Monica, you came to my rescue, you worked your heart out, you were always on time. My newest photographer, Steve, you came along at a crucial point. Your work is exception, your style is terrific. Thanks for showing up in my office that day. Finally I thank Steven, my artist, whose advice I value more than anyone else's. Your insight is only equaled by the quality of your work.

There are many people not on the staff who helped in various ways, and I want to give a few special thanks. Myra, I know the LinC is not one of your duties, but you helped anyway. The Union Secretary Pam, thanks for playing mail carrier for me this summer. Stan in Sports Information put up with me a lot. What can I say? Next year I'll get a Sports Editor to bother you guys. Kent Whitehead: another year of marvelous senior pictures. Richard, the picture you gave me is perfect. Julie and the entire Crescent staff were helpful in every way: you're all great. My roommate Jim, you put up with alot, thanks and you know I mean it. Cathy, you did the index when there was no one else; I am forever indebted. To all, thanks again.
